問題A

Tomoki: Hi, Susan. You look happy. What's up?

Susan: Hi, Tomoki. I have good news to tell you. You know that my mother and father are coming to Japan. They're coming to see me next Friday after visiting Kyoto and Nara.

Tomoki: That's good for you! How long are they going to stay here?

Susan: For three days. During their stay, I want to show them around our city. So, do you know any good places to visit?

Tomoki: Well, there're some good places, but what do your parents want to see?

Susan: I have no idea but I know they're interested in old Japanese things.

Tomoki: I see. Then, how about a museum near our school?

Susan: What can we see in that museum?

Tomoki: You can see a lot of things Japanese people used a long time ago, for example, old money, old books and old pictures. You can learn how they lived from those things. When I was a junior high school student, I went to that museum and learned many things there.

Susan: Sounds interesting! If I take my parents there, they'll have a good time. Well, is there any information written in English in that museum?

Tomoki: Yes, there is.

Susan: That's good. It will help us a lot. But it's difficult for me to give my parents more information about the things there. Will you come with us?

Tomoki: Of course, I will. When shall we go to that museum, then?

Susan: How about next Saturday?

Tomoki: No problem. I'll be glad to see your parents and talk with them in English. I want your parents to know more about Japan. I will practice speaking English harder.

Susan: Thank you, Tomoki. Then, I will learn more about Japan to tell my parents. It's good for both of us, right?

Question No. 1: What is the good news for Susan?

Question No. 2: How long are Susan's parents going to stay in her city?

Question No. 3: Has Tomoki been to the museum before?

Question No. 4: Why did Susan ask Tomoki to visit the museum with her and her parents?
